Adelphoi Recognized in International Award for AI/ML Model

Latrobe, PA – Adelphoi has recently gained recognition through a collaboration with Cigniti Technologies to improve outcomes for at-risk youth. The partnership resulted in an AI/ML decision-making predictive model which has earned Cigniti the ISG Case Study Standout Award in the Education category. The award recognizes the best-in-class work of collaborative projects based on a comprehensive analysis of the real-world effects on the client’s business and the distinctiveness of the provider’s solutions.

This award-winning AI/ML model, developed between Adelphoi and Cigniti Technologies, leverages historical data to recommend personalized treatment programs for each child involved in the child welfare and juvenile justice systems. Adelphoi is marketing this predictive analytics tool, called FirstMatch, to counties, states and providers across the country. Its implementation significantly enhances the overall care provided to these vulnerable children while minimizing the rate of return to care.

“We are thrilled to have collaborated with Cigniti Technologies on this ground-breaking project,” commented Mark Mortimer, COO of Adelphoi. “Their dedication, expertise, and unwavering commitment to excellence have culminated in a transformative predictive analytics software model. This software will reduce treatment time and improve outcomes for countless youth in the child welfare and juvenile justice systems.”

This recognition reflects Adelphoi's dedication to pioneering innovative solutions that positively impact the lives of the children and families they serve. Through this endeavor, the organization has taken a significant step forward in leveraging new technology for the betterment of youth in need of child welfare and juvenile justice services.
